

Great hiring solutions for B.C employers

Vancouver Island News Group
Tue 05 Sep 2006
Page: 0026
Section: Nanaimo News Bulletin - Business
Byline:
Source:
Edition:
Length: 458 words

When looking to hire new employees, many small business owners in B.C. turn to the successful workforce solutions of WCG International Ltd. such as Triumph Vocational Services and JobWave.

Triumph creates winning solutions for innovative employers and persons with disabilities who want to achieve their employment potential.

There is a strong business case for hiring through Triumph - it works for your company, it works for your customers, and it works for your bottom line.

By hiring through Triumph, you:

Gain a valuable employee; Build your business;
Become a leader in your community.

The hiring process is tailored to your needs and experienced vocational coaches work with employers and clients to ensure the hiring experience is positive and productive.

What employers are saying:

"Throughout our relationship with Triumph I have always felt that our needs have come first. Triumph has worked hard to find the right fit for our business. They genuinely care about the people they place and they never tire of hearing about their clients' successes."

"A partnership with Triumph is a great investment for employers. For the cost of an open mind and a bit of initial setup time, you will receive positive, motivated employees who will not only add to the diversity of your workplace, but increase productivity through the power of a positive approach."

Providing human resource solutions is not new for WCG; another very successful program that employers have come to know is JobWave.

JobWave is B.C.'s most successful workforce solutions program in the history of the province.

Since January 2000, the program has helped thousands of employers find new, qualified employees and has filled over 63,000 job openings throughout the province.

Triumph is now taking the lead for WCG to provide hiring solutions for employers on Vancouver Island and will strive to supply better than best services in your community. JobWave is now being delivered in more than 200 communities throughout B.C. under the framework of the province's new $35-million B.C. Employment Program.

In honour of World Suicide Prevention Day, on Sept. 10, the Central Vancouver Island Crisis Society will be holding a Suicide Survivor Vigil at Maffeo Sutton Park from 7 to 9 p.m. Come together and honour your lost loved ones.

The Central Vancouver Island Crisis Society is committed to bringing mental health wellness to our community through education around suicide prevention.

We believe by bringing the subject of mental health out of the shadows we can bring wellness into the workplace, into our homes and to our community.

As part of our commitment we provide an accessible, 24-hour crisis line. We endeavour to provide: emotional support during times of crisis, information about community resources. Nanaimo, 754-4447, District 69, 248-3111, Cowichan, 746-1133, office: 753-2495.

Copyright 2006 Nanaimo News Bulletin